UMFA

UPPER MIDWEST FLUTE ASSOCIATION

UMFA Scholarship Program Overview and Teacher Recommendation Form

Program Overview

UMFA's scholarship program supports local flute students in their music studies. Students who demonstrate financial need and dedication to their musical studies may apply to receive scholarships to help cover the costs of private lessons, master classes, summer music camps, or instrument rentals. Students of all ages and playing levels who are permanent residents of the Upper Midwest may apply for scholarships.

To provide further support for students, UMFA partners with the MusicLink Foundation and with Hopewell Music Cooperative North. If students need instrument loans and/or additional financial assistance, they are encouraged to register with one or both of these partner organizations. More information is available below.

The UMFA scholarship program provides opportunities for students to apply for scholarships three times a year to cover musical studies during the periods of January 1-April 30, May 1-Aug 31, and Sept 1-Dec 31. Students who have received UMFA scholarships will be eligible to re-apply for additional scholarships. Checks will be disbursed directly to the teacher, master class organizer, or music camp with whom/where the student is studying.

UMFA's Partner Organizations

The MusicLink Foundation is a national organization with a Minnesota chapter that helps to support low-income music students with the costs of music, instrument loans, musical supplies, and summer camps. UMFA's scholarship students may register with MusicLink in order to borrow flutes and receive extra financial support in their studies. MusicLink takes instrument donations year-round.

Hopewell Music Cooperative North (HMCN) provides underserved students access to affordable and high quality private lessons, ensembles, and courses as well as to safe and vibrant performance opportunities for community members. Hopewell commits itself to community building through offering instruction in music to ALL members of the community of North Minneapolis who want to participate regardless of ability or circumstances. HMCN accepts instrument donations year-round.
